To Whom It May Concern:

I worked closely with Matthew from the moment he joined the team as a C# API Developer, and it has been great to see his growth over time.

He came in with a solid foundation in C# and API development and quickly proved himself as a reliable and thoughtful coder. What really stood out was how proactively he expanded his skill set beyond core development, learning and applying concepts across Azure and Microsoft Fabric, including data mapping and pipeline workflows. He picks up new technologies quickly and translates his learning into practical outcomes for the team.

Beyond his technical abilities, Matthew brings a consistently positive attitude and a strong team spirit. He collaborates well, is open to feedback, and genuinely wants the team to succeed. He's the kind of teammate you can count on both technically and professionally.
